1 ART + ARCHITECTURE + JAZZ IN MONTECITO SUNDAY, MAY 23, 4-6 P.M.

Joan Rosenberg-Dent creates her sculptural ceramics in a contemporary studio and home designed by Jeff Berkus. Inspired by the site's dramatic ocean views, the house is a true artist-architect collaboration that seems to float above the surrounding landscape and embrace it at the same time. Salon guests are invited to explore both home and art studio at their leisure with Joan and Jeff. Joan will have more intimate conversations in her studio about cross-disciplinary influences on her work — including jazz, poetry and dance. Appropriately, a jazz trio will provide the entertainment. Brander wines and hors d'oeuvres will be served. As a bonus, each guest will take home an original Rosenberg-Dent ceramic cup.

2 SUSTAINABILITY SAN ROQUE STYLE: PERSONAL EXPRESSION IN DESIGN AND ART SUNDAY, JUNE 6, 4-6 P.M.

Celebrated landscape architect and artist Isabelle Greene has many local projects to show off, but the one closest to home is rarely seen — her own backyard garden in full bloom. Isabelle will guide guests through her holistic approach to designing her small-sized San Roque home and its garden in harmony. Her highly personal style is reflected in everything from building materials, to native plants, to artwork, to furniture. Furniture designer and sculptor Bud Tullis joins Isabelle to describe his work for her home and his latest sculptures, which transform salvaged wood into dynamic abstract forms. Experience indoor/outdoor living in the middle of one of Santa Barbara's favorite neighborhoods. Refreshments will be served in the garden.

3 LOVE IN THE AFTERNOON: CONTEMPORARY DANCE AT MONTECITO VALLEY RANCH SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 4-6 P.M.

Dwight and Tina Coffin's Mediterranean-style home is the backdrop as Robin Bisio, award-winning choreographer and filmmaker, premieres a plein air dance titled Love on the Altar of Impermanence just in time for the Summer Solstice. This salon will begin with a personal tour of the Coffins' eclectic art collection and viewings of some of Robin's dance films that have been presented at the Santa Barbara Film Festival. Guests will then gather under an old oak tree on the grounds of this lovely estate to view dancers Cybil Gilbertson, Kaita Lepore and Elizabeth Schwyzer with singer/songwriter Alixandra Macmillan-Fiedel performing a work inspired by the myriad forms of romance. Join a post-performance conversation in the Coffins' garden over wine and hors d'oeuvres.

4 SOMEWHERE OVER THE RAINBOW... SATURDAY, JULY 10, 4-6 P.M.

The brilliantly colored photographs and delicately pigmented paper collages of artist friends Jane Gottlieb and Mary Heebner represent visual extremes of two-dimensional style and technique. In this salon they will come together to discuss common ground, new projects and the environments that inspire them. Jane's famously vibrant Riviera home is the playground and point of departure for this adventure into personal taste and aesthetic inspiration. The multi-leveled contemporary design of the Matisse-colored Gottlieb-Obst home will require a little stair-climbing to see Jane's studio, diverse art collection and garden. Brander wines and exotic refreshments will reward those who are up to this multi-hued experience.

5 THE ART OF DISAPPEARANCE SUNDAY, JULY 18, 4-6 P.M.

Artist Penelope Gottlieb's home near Hope Ranch offers spectacular views of the ocean and a lush Santa Barbara garden. Her adjoining studio offers an equally spectacular sight — beautiful botanical paintings and drawings — but the subtext here is more ominous. Gone, her most recent series, considers vanishing plant life, linking evidence with a pop sensibility in exploding compositions. In this salon Penelope and special guest, Dieter Wilken, director for plant conservation at the Santa Barbara Botanic Garden, will discuss local vanishing species from artistic and scientific perspectives. This event opens with a studio and home tour featuring Brander wines and luscious appetizers. Pamela Harris and Carole Ann Colone of She's My Band complement the afternoon program with their unique blend of pedal harp, congas and percussion.

6 ARTISTS OR MAD MEN...? SUNDAY, AUGUST 1, 4-6 P.M.

Almenara, the historic Garden Street home of Lynn Montgomery, children's book author, and Richard Kriegler, was the setting for many celebrated art salons hosted by publisher Harry McGuire, its previous owner. In this 21st-century salon, Richard, art director at Infinity Ward Studios, invites you to meet Justin Carroll, principal with the award-winning LA graphic design studio, Hamagami/Carroll. They will discuss their cutting-edge work that led to the meteoric success of the billion dollar selling video game, Modern Warfare 2. Richard's grand landscape paintings are on view throughout this memorable home. Tour the formal garden and feed the chickens. Brander wines and hors d'oeuvres will be served poolside. Signed, limited edition MW2 posters will be raffled — a perfect gift for your favorite gamer.
